COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course introduces students to the study of gerontology which is the interdisciplinary study of aging. During the term we will examine the social, psychological, physiological, economic, and health aspects of growing old and consider aging in an individual and societal context. We will look at a range of topics including population aging, ageism, family life, health, finances, retirement, work, housing, transportation, leisure, recreation, and end of life issues. The content of the course focuses on older adults and later life, and is intended to provide a general background for more specialized studies in aging.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

The central objective of the course is to provide an opportunity for students to think critically about aging in society and to demonstrate this knowledge both descriptively and analytically through tests and assignments. By the end of the course students will be able to:

- describe myths about aging and identify implications of ageism
- identify and explain theories and concepts key to the study of aging
- describe the ethno-cultural diversity of seniors in Canada
- explain the demographic shifts that have led to population aging
- describe key physical, psychological, and developmental changes that occur with age
- discuss institutional changes in response to population aging
- identify and explain challenges facing older people and their caregivers in later life
- advance writing, critical thinking, and research skills

REQUIRED TEXTBOOK:

- Novak, M. and Campbell, L. and Herbert C. Northcott (2013). Aging & Society: A Canadian Perspective (7th edition). Toronto: Nelson Education Ltd.

CLASS FORMAT

Lectures will reinforce course readings, and involve power-point slides, in-class exercises, films, media clips, and occasional guest speakers. Power-point presentations, intended to facilitate note taking, will be posted on Avenue to Learn immediately prior to the scheduled lecture. It is important to keep up with the assigned readings and to attend lectures to succeed in this course. Lectures will augment the required reading but will not cover all content presented in the text. Required reading should be completed prior to class and students should be prepared to actively participate in class.

COURSE EVALUATION:

1. Midterm Exam - 25%, May 22rd
2. Term Writing Assignment - 30%, due on June 7th
3. In-class Group Participation - 10%, on-going
4. Final Exam - 35%, June 14th

Midterm Exam (25%) May 22, 2018

There will be a midterm exam written in class on May 22, 2018. This exam will be based on material from the text, lectures, and any other class materials (i.e. films, guest speakers, etc.). The exam is worth 25% of your final grade and will consist of 50 multiple choice questions.

Final Exam (35%) June 14, 2018

There will also be a final exam on June 14, 2018. The final exam is cumulative which means that you will be tested on all course content (material covered before and after the mid-term). The final exam is worth 35% of your final grade and will consist of 80 multiple choice questions.

- Please note that to pass this course students must complete the term assignment, the midterm exam, and the final exam.
- Further details on examinations will be reviewed in class.

In Class Participation (10%)

Class attendance is mandatory. During the term students will be expected to actively participate in class. Students will be evaluated on their attentiveness in lecture and participation in class activities that include reflective writing, group exercises, and class discussions. It is important to bring your laptop as well as paper and a pen to each class. No accommodation will be provided for missed in-class participation-(exceptions may potentially include approved SAS accommodations and religious holiday accommodations-see p 7).

Participation grades will be based on contribution to in-class discussions and activities, in class attentiveness, and thoughtful completion and sharing of in-class assignments.

- Class discussion based on weekly readings will be a routine component of the course. Full attendance (attending the entire class) and active participation is required. It is therefore important that all students, complete scheduled readings prior to class, attend all classes, be attentive in lecture and participate enthusiastically in discussion.
- Each week you will be provided with the opportunity to participate in collaborative learning with your peers. Working in groups of 4-5, students will be expected to engage in discussion about the course readings and provide written responses to questions/exercises posed by the instructor. The purpose of the group work is to provide you with an opportunity to actively reflect on and discuss course material, enhance your ability to critically reflect on age related issues and to work collaboratively with group members in synthesizing responses in oral and written formats.

- In a 'word document' provide a (double spaced 300-500 words) written response to the assigned question/exercise. Provide a title page that has the name of each group member who participated in the activity, the name of the activity and the date. Write the response in an essay style; that is, using proper grammar, paragraph, and sentence structure. Submit your in-class group response to the Avenue drop box no later than 11:59 pm on the date that it is due. Submissions will be assessed for logical, thoughtful reflection, completeness, and writing mechanics. Completed assignments will result in the accumulation of group participation credits.

Term Writing Assignment worth (30%)

DUE June 7th

Late submissions will not be accepted after June 14th

This assignment gives you the opportunity to individually explore a focused aging issue (for example, financial abuse of the elderly in nursing homes, older adults and use of the internet, the ethical implications of physician assisted death in Canada) and to share your insights in writing. Topics must be approved by the instructor (in person not via email) by May 17th. Students are required to write a 5-6 page essay that links theory, relevant findings from required course material, and a minimum of 4 additional scholarly research articles to your chosen topic. The additional scholarly articles must be located in a peer reviewed social science journal (like The Canadian Journal on Aging) published after 2008. Articles from popular periodicals (magazines, newspapers or Internet sites, etc.) or science journals will not be accepted. Information from other academic sources (example, scholarly books or book chapters) is permissible but these cannot be used in lieu of the required article sources. Do NOT use book reviews or literature review articles, conference papers or theses. Do NOT CITE LECTURES. It is imperative to properly cite supporting scholarly sources (refer to references on power point slides)

The writing assignment must be submitted electronically in a WORD document to the appropriate Avenue to Learn drop box no later than 7 pm on June 8th; hardcopies or emailed copies will not be accepted. The assignment should have a title page, all pages should be numbered and have 1 inch margins on all four sides. All text should be double-spaced, using 12-point Times New Roman Font. Assignments must be properly formatted using the APA Style Guide. Carefully follow the manuscript formatting with respect to in-text citation references, reference page formatting, and manuscript writing style. See: <http://library.mcmaster.ca/guides/apa-style-guide>.

More detailed instructions on the assignment and a grading rubric will be posted on Avenue and reviewed in class.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY:

You are expected to exhibit honesty and use ethical behaviour in all aspects of the learning process. Academic credentials you earn are rooted in principles of honesty and academic integrity.

Academic dishonesty is to knowingly act or fail to act in a way that results in or could result in unearned academic credit or advantage. This behaviour can result in serious consequences, e.g. the grade of zero on an assignment, loss of credit with a notation on the transcript (notation reads: "Grade of F assigned for academic dishonesty"), and/or suspension or expulsion from the university.

It is your responsibility to understand what constitutes academic dishonesty. For information on the various types of academic dishonesty please refer to the Academic Integrity Policy, located at <http://www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity>.

The following illustrates only three forms of academic dishonesty:

1. Plagiarism, e.g. the submission of work that is not one's own or for which other credit has been obtained.
2. Improper collaboration in group work.
3. Copying or using unauthorized aids in tests and examinations.

ABSENCES, MISSED WORK, ILLNESS

All reasons for illness, injury and family emergency must be addressed through the office of the Associate Dean of Social Sciences who will notify the Professor of your absence. The policy contains the following requirements:

1. If you are seeking relief for missed academic work because of an absence lasting up to 3 days in duration, you must use the McMaster Student Absence Form. The course work you have missed must be worth 24% or less of your grade.

2. You may submit a maximum of 1 Academic Work Missed request per term. It is YOUR responsibility to follow up with your Instructor immediately (NORMALLY WITHIN TWO WORKING DAYS) regarding the nature of the accommodation.
3. If you are absent for reasons other than medical reasons, for more than 3 days, or exceed 1 request per term you MUST visit your Associate Dean's Office (Faculty Office). You may be required to provide supporting documentation. This form should be filled out immediately when you are about to return to class after your absence. Additional requests for relief of academic missed work must be reported to your Faculty's Associate Dean's Office (Be prepared to submit appropriate documentation. Relief for missed academic work is not guaranteed).
MSAF is now available in MOSAIC Student Center (in the drop down menu under Academics)
4. You should expect to have academic commitments Monday through Saturday but not on Sunday or statutory holidays. If you require an accommodation to meet a religious obligation or to celebrate an important religious holiday, you may use the McMaster Student Absence Form or contact your Faculty's Associate Dean's Office.
5. In deciding whether or not to grant relief for missed work, factors such as the following may be taken into account: the timing in relation to the due date of the missed work and the degree of the student's incapacitation.
6. You are responsible to contact your Professor(s) promptly to discuss the appropriate relief.
7. It is the prerogative of the Professor of the course to determine the appropriate relief for missed term work in his/her course.
See the Faculty of Social Sciences web page on Student Absence Information

COURSE POLICIES

Late Assignments:

Without approved excuses, you must make arrangements directly with me to hand in the assignment. Assignments will be marked down 5% if turned in late on the day it is due, and an additional 5 percentage points for each day it is late after that; this includes weekend days and holidays. If an assignment is due at the start of a class, it will be considered one day late any time after the end of class that day.

Email:

Send all emails to my McMaster email account: leblanyl@mcmaster.ca. Please consider email equivalent to any other form of written communication. Students who write to their instructors are expected to follow rules of spelling, grammar and punctuation. In addition, please include a proper greeting, such as "Dear Dr. LeBlanc," and a closing that includes your full name, such as "Sincerely, John Smith." Email failing to meet these standards may be returned unanswered. Emails that require a very short reply will be answered within 4 working days (I will generally not respond to emails over the weekend). Email questions requiring a more detailed response will only be answered - in person - during office hours or by appointment.

Use of Mobile Devices

Mobile devices, specifically laptops and tablets, may be used in this course for educational purposes only (i.e., learning directed related to the course). At times I may direct you to use your mobile device to complete an activity or task, other times I may ask you to close your laptop or turn off your tablet to focus your attention on other course related tasks. Off-task use (e.g., Facebook, texting, other) will result in your device being confiscated for the class and/or being asked to leave the classroom for all or part of the class.

The instructor and university reserve the right to modify elements of the course during the term. The university may change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances. If either type of modification becomes necessary, reasonable notice and communication with the students will be given with explanation and the opportunity to comment on changes. It is the responsibility of the student to check their McMaster email and course websites weekly during the term and to note any changes.

OTHER IMPORTANT COURSE INFORMATION

Release of Grades:

Assignment grades will NOT be given out over the phone or by email. Final exam grades will not be released by the instructor. Final course grades will be released through the Registrar's Office.

Review of Marks:

I will be diligent in marking all assignments fairly and accurately. However, occasionally students disagree with the marks they receive. If this occurs, the instructor will be happy to review the mark of any assignment or exam, if the procedure outlined below is followed. Please note that when a mark is reviewed, the new mark may be lower than the original.

To request a review of a mark, write a 1-page typed memo describing in detail the nature of the perceived marking error. Submit this memo (in person, not e-mail), with the original marked assignment, to the instructor. You may submit requests for review no sooner than 48 hours, and no later than 1 week after the assignment feedback is distributed via the Avenue drop box.

Turnitin:

In this course we will be using a web-based service (Turnitin.com) to reveal plagiarism. Students will be expected to submit their work electronically to Turnitin.com so that it can be checked for academic dishonesty. Assignments for this course should be uploaded in the appropriate digital drop-box on Avenue to Learn prior to the assignment deadline. When you upload your assignment to the digital drop-box on Avenue to Learn your assignment will be automatically forwarded to Turnitin.com to be checked for academic dishonesty. To see the Turnitin.com Policy, please go to www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity

Students who do not wish to submit their work to Turnitin.com must still submit a hard copy of the assignment to their TA. No penalty will be assigned to a student who does not submit their work to Turnitin.com.

If you would like additional feedback or just to talk about your assignments I strongly encourage you to meet with me. As your instructor, I am available to meet in person by appointment.
