Course Description

The law plays a major role in shaping almost every aspect of work, from what counts as employment to establishing workers' basic duties on the job and their rights at work, through their right to organize, to how and when unions are allowed to bargain and go on strike. Moreover, the law regulating employment takes three forms – the common law, direct statutory intervention and legislation designed to promote self-regulation - and each form has a different justification. This course explores how these different legal regimes frame workplace issues. What interests - the workers, the employers, and the public - does the law try to balance, and which side does it favour?

This course is designed as in-person course as in addition to lectures we will be working on exercises in pairs or groups throughout the term. There will be a series of assignments, including a group assignment, that you will be submitting on Avenue to Learn. A weekly check list will be provided, and you should download the Brightspace app to keep track of assignments. You should do your readings before the class so that you can participate in the exercises and discussions. Each class will have a 15 minute break in the middle so that people can eat outside the class room and take a break.

Course Learning

The course aims to develop knowledge of key concepts and regulatory mechanisms related to employment law and labour law. Students will develop an understanding of the common law's distinctive methodology and how common law interacts with direct statutory intervention and collective bargaining. The course will assist students in comparing and contrasting these different regulatory regimes – common law, direct statutory regulation and collective bargaining legislation. Students will develop critical thinking and effective communication skills by facilitating critical discussions of the central claims raised in the readings and lectures.

Collaborative work skills will be cultivated through a group assignment.

Required Materials and Texts

Required text: David J. Doorey, THE LAW OF WORK: SECOND and COMPLETE EDITION (Toronto; Emond 2020). You should purchase this text. It is available from the McMaster bookstore in hardcover or on-line. For each class you will be responsible for reading about 75 pages of the textbook and hard copy is easier to work with. It is expected that you will have read the materials so that you will be prepared to discuss, engage with them, and you will be assessed on them in the assignments.

Students are also expected to consult the course's Avenue to Learn site several times a week. Checklists, videos, PowerPoint and background information are available there.

Late Assignments

The due dates for assignments are firm. For instructions regarding submitting assignments the instructions for the specific assignment see above.

Absences, Missed Work, Illness

On-line self-reporting tool – illness lasting less than 3 days.

<https://socialsciences.mcmaster.ca/current-students/absence-form> This form can only be used once per term. Instructors are not allowed to accept medical notes! These must be submitted to your Faculty office. In the event of an absence for medical or other reasons, students should review and follow the Academic Regulation in the Undergraduate Calendar “Requests for Relief for Missed Academic Term Work". Please also communicate with the course instructor. The value of in-class assignments that are missed for medical or other accepted reason may be added to the take home.

Avenue to Learn

In this course we will be using Avenue to Learn. Students should be aware that, when they access the electronic components of this course, private information such as first and last names, usernames for the McMaster e-mail accounts, and program affiliation may become apparent to all other students in the same course. The available information is dependent on the technology used. Continuation in this course will be deemed consent to this disclosure. If you have any questions or concerns about such disclosure please discuss this with the course instructor.

Turnitin.com

In this course we will be using a web-based service (Turnitin.com) to reveal plagiarism. Students will be expected to submit their work electronically to Turnitin.com and in hard copy so that it can be checked for academic dishonesty. Students who do not wish to submit their work to Turnitin.com must still submit a copy to the instructor. No penalty will be assigned to a student who does not submit work to Turnitin.com. All submitted work is subject to normal verification that standards of academic integrity have been upheld (e.g., on-line search, etc.). To see the Turnitin.com Policy, please to go www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity.

Academic Dishonesty:

<http://www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity/students/index.html>

Academic dishonesty consists of misrepresentation by deception or by other fraudulent means and can result in serious consequences, e.g. the grade of zero on an assignment, loss of credit with a notation on the transcript (notation reads: "Grade of F assigned for academic dishonesty"), and/or suspension or expulsion from the university.

It is your responsibility to understand what constitutes academic dishonesty. For information on the various kinds of academic dishonesty please refer to the Academic Integrity Policy, specifically Appendix 3, located at <http://www.mcmaster.ca/policy/Students-AcademicStudies/AcademicIntegrity.pdf>

The following illustrates only three forms of academic dishonesty:

1. Plagiarism, e.g. the submission of work that is not one's own or for which other credit has been obtained.
2. Improper collaboration in-group work.
3. Copying or using unauthorized aids in tests and examinations.

In this course, we will be using a software package designed to reveal plagiarism. Students will be required to submit their work electronically and in hard copy for this purpose.

Department/University Policies:

Pandemic Related Policies

Students are reminded that you must complete MacCheck in order to obtain clearance every day that you are on campus.

All instructors and students must wear a mask in the classroom, unless they have been granted an exemption. If anyone refuses to put on a mask or leave, the class will be cancelled as is required under university policy.

Eating is still not permitted in a teaching/learning setting, which includes classrooms. You can remove your mask temporarily to drink water.

Absence Reporting:

<https://socialsciences.mcmaster.ca/current-students/absence-form>

On-line self-reporting tool – illness lasting less than 3 days. Can only be used once per term. Instructors are not allowed to accept medical notes! These must be submitted to your Faculty office. In the event of an absence for medical or other reasons, students should review and follow the Academic Regulation in the Undergraduate Calendar “Requests for Relief for Missed Academic Term Work”. Please also communicate with the course instructor.

Code of Conduct:

<http://studentaffairs.mcmaster.ca>

“McMaster University is a community dedicated to furthering learning, intellectual inquiry, the dissemination of knowledge and personal and professional development. Membership in this community implies acceptance of the principle of mutual respect for the rights, responsibilities, dignity and well-being of others and a readiness to support an environment conducive to the intellectual and personal growth of all who study work and live within it.”

This code of conduct applies to the on-line environment and all of our interactions with each other on-line or in person.

Computer Use:

Computer use in the classroom is intended to facilitate learning in that particular lecture or tutorial. At the discretion of the instructor, students using a computer for any other purpose may be required to turn the computer off for the remainder of the lecture or tutorial.

Course Modifications:

The instructor and university reserve the right to modify elements of the course during the term. The university may change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances. If either type of modification becomes necessary, reasonable notice and communication with the students will be given with explanation and the opportunity to comment on changes. It is the responsibility of the student to check their McMaster email and Avenue to Learn (if used by instructor) regularly during the term to note any changes.

Email Communication Policy of the Faculty of Social Sciences:

All e-mail communication sent from students to instructors (including TAs), and from students to staff, must originate from the student's own McMaster University e-mail account. This policy protects confidentiality and confirms the identity of the student. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that communication is sent to the university from a McMaster account. If an instructor/TA receives a communication from an alternate address, the instructor may not reply at his or her discretion.

Please always include student name, ID, course # and TA name in messages.

Please note that the instructor and TA will not be replying to emails over the weekend and allow 24 hour for a response.

Evaluations (On-line):

<http://evals.mcmaster.ca>, and log in via MACID.

These help faculty and the School of Labour Studies to meet our goal of continually improving teaching effectiveness. All students in the course are invited and encouraged to complete the evaluation.
