10	I think the best thing he does is that it's very obvious he is genuinely interested in the class content and in being a TA. His enthusiasm to help us enabled a very positive and welcoming atmosphere. He was very prepared, and improved our understanding of the readings + class content. It wasn't one of those tutorials that I attended just for the sake of getting participation marks. I actually ended up learning things that helped me with my assignments. Oh and the feedback I got was really really amazing; it looked at the paper from different points of view, gave new ideas, pinpointed the stuff I did well, etc. I've had many tutorials before that I was extremelyyyyy stressful to attend, this was the exact opposite. This is one of the few tuts in my two years of university so far, in which I felt comfortable talking and asking questions. Thank you for that!!
24	Noah was a great TA this year. He remained well-informed on course content which allowed him to provide thorough answers to any questions we might have had as well as ensure that we had a good grasp on the content we were learning in class. The discussions we held during tutorials were also very informative and helped me think outside of the box on a number of topics that we were learning. The only aspect that I felt Noah could have approved on is his approachability as I sometimes had a difficult time in coming to him for help before/after tutorials and during his office hours. Otherwise, Noah did a very good job as our TA this year and was committed to the success of all his students.
26	I liked the way you facilitated discussions in class. It allowed the students to talk more and convey thoughts. I can't quite think of areas of improvement as by far this was my favourite tutorial of the term because of the high engagement. Thank you for everything!
39	Noah was honestly a great TA I really felt comfortable speaking in class and the discussions were great . He gave very constructive feedback on assignments and was very reasonable too overall made the tutorials enjoyable thank you Noah
67	Noah Fry did an amazing job!
