Course Description

Governments across the world face major challenges in producing and delivering public goods and services in the context of social complexities, financial constraints and increasing demands from citizens. Public sector management involves a wide range of tasks and responsibilities that are critical in governing a country. This course aims to provide an advanced overview of a number of key issues of management in the public sector. Drawing upon the organization and operations of administrative agencies and institutions, this course intends to work toward the development of a critical understanding of concepts, strategies and outcome of public sector management. Students will analyze and reflect upon the principles and practices of public sector management. They will be required to write research essays and participate actively in the deliberations on a regular basis.

Course Objectives

By the end of the course students should be able to:

- understand key concepts in public sector management;
- identify alternative approaches for analyzing issues in public management;
- critically examine problems in the public service and search for solutions;
- undertake research on issues related to public sector management; and

- present findings of research and write critical essays.

Required Materials and Texts

There is no required textbook. Readings will be assigned from a variety of sources. They will be available on-line and Avenue to Learn.

Class Format

Instruction and discussions will be conducted through zoom meetings. The course will adopt a seminar format. Following an introductory session, a number of meetings will be devoted to the discussion of the key issues in public sector management. The sessions will highlight controversies and debates, and sensitize students to the processes and challenges encountered in public sector management. Selected members of the class will lead the discussions for these sessions, and all students are expected to participate by challenging assumptions, raising questions and contributing insight. The schedule for discussion and presentations will be completed after the number of students in the class is finalized.

Course Evaluation – Overview

1. Proposal for Paper	20%,	Due October 8, 2020
2. Participation	20%	Ongoing
3. Presentation	25%	Schedule to be determined in class
4. Term Paper	35%,	Due two weeks from the date of presentation.

Course Evaluation – Details

Proposal for Paper (20%), due October 8, 2020

Students are required to identify a topic for making an oral presentation and subsequently developing it into a research paper. After choosing topics, students will submit a proposal for their papers. The proposal is expected to be 4-5 pages in length (double spaced). It should include a brief statement on the background of the topic, state the issues to be explored, key arguments to be made, research methods to be followed, and expected findings. A brief bibliography should be included. The proposal should be submitted on or before 8 October 2020.

Participation (20%), ongoing

Participation in classroom activities and discussions provides opportunities for students to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the course content. Students are expected to read the assigned material for every session and consult additional sources, wherever possible. They should take the lead in discussions and actively participate to facilitate the understanding of issues in public sector management, and address questions that are raised or inferred from the literature. The purpose will be to develop an ongoing dialogue and arrive at a systematic set of explanations reflecting students' perspective on public sector management.

Presentation (25%), to be scheduled in class

Students are expected to explore, examine and research specific problems and issues in public sector management. The class presentations should report on the content of the research in progress, examine the central arguments and evidence, as well as the validity and reliability of the conclusions. Each presenter is expected to speak for approximately 25-30 minutes, and allow 10-15 minutes for questions, comments and feedback. In this exercise, students will identify areas for deeper investigation, analyze the problems and deliberate on the possible solutions and their potential impacts, both positive and negative. There will be an opportunity to obtain feedback and new ideas from the class before finalizing the research paper. The suggested length of time for presentations may be adjusted, if necessary, after the course begins.

Term Paper (35%), due two weeks after presentation

The purpose of the term paper is to demonstrate understanding of the concepts, ideas, debates and practice in public sector management and present them in a logical manner on the basis of clear hypotheses and evidence. This will mark the culmination of systematic research initiated with the proposals for papers. The topic should be relevant to the theme of the course, and highlight recent developments. The suggested length of the term paper is 20-25 pages, but it may be exceeded if there are good reasons for doing so. The term paper will be due within two weeks after the presentation.

Late Assignments

Assignments are due on the day indicated. If you are unable to do so, please contact the instructor.

Absences, Missed Work, Illness

In light of the format of the course and the emphasis on regular and consistent participation in class discussions, attendance is mandatory. Some absences (such as in cases of illness, for example) may be unavoidable. Please contact me in advance (or as soon as possible) via email if you are going to be absent.

Faculty of Social Sciences E-mail Communication Policy

Effective September 1, 2010, it is the policy of the Faculty of Social Sciences that all e-mail communication sent from students to instructors (including TAs), and from students to staff, must originate from the student's own McMaster University e-mail account. This policy protects confidentiality and confirms the identity of the student. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that communication is sent to the university from a McMaster account. If an instructor becomes aware that a communication has come from an alternate address, the instructor may not reply at his or her discretion.

Academic Integrity

You are expected to exhibit honesty and use ethical behaviour in all aspects of the learning process. Academic credentials you earn are rooted in principles of honesty and academic integrity. It is your responsibility to understand what constitutes academic dishonesty.

Academic dishonesty is to knowingly act or fail to act in a way that results or could result in unearned academic credit or advantage. This behaviour can result in serious consequences, e.g. the grade of zero on an assignment, loss of credit with a notation on the transcript (notation reads: "Grade of F assigned for academic dishonesty"), and/or suspension or expulsion from the university. For information on the various types of academic dishonesty please refer to the Academic Integrity Policy, located at <https://secretariat.mcmaster.ca/university-policies-procedures-guidelines/>

The following illustrates only three forms of academic dishonesty:

- plagiarism, e.g. the submission of work that is not one's own or for which other credit has been obtained.
- improper collaboration in group work.

- copying or using unauthorized aids in tests and examinations.

Authenticity / Plagiarism Detection

Some courses may use a web-based service (Turnitin.com) to reveal authenticity and ownership of student submitted work. For courses using such software, students will be expected to submit their work electronically either directly to Turnitin.com or via an online learning platform (e.g. A2L, etc.) using plagiarism detection (a service supported by Turnitin.com) so it can be checked for academic dishonesty.

Students who do not wish their work to be submitted through the plagiarism detection software must inform the Instructor before the assignment is due. No penalty will be assigned to a student who does not submit work to the plagiarism detection software.

All submitted work is subject to normal verification that standards of academic integrity have been upheld (e.g., on-line search, other software, etc.). For more details about McMaster's use of Turnitin.com please go to www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity.

Courses with an On-Line Element

Some courses may use on-line elements (e.g. e-mail, Avenue to Learn (A2L), LearnLink, web pages, capa, Moodle, ThinkingCap, etc.). Students should be aware that, when they access the electronic components of a course using these elements, private information such as first and last names, user names for the McMaster e-mail accounts, and program affiliation may become apparent to all other students in the same course. The available information is dependent on the technology used.

Continuation in a course that uses on-line elements will be deemed consent to this disclosure. If you have any questions or concerns about such disclosure please discuss this with the course instructor.

Online Proctoring

Some courses may use online proctoring software for tests and exams. This software may require students to turn on their video camera, present identification, monitor and record their computer activities, and/or lock/restrict their browser or other applications/software during tests or exams. This software may be required to be installed before the test/exam begins.

Conduct Expectations

As a McMaster student, you have the right to experience, and the responsibility to demonstrate, respectful and dignified interactions within all of our living, learning and working communities. These expectations are described in the Code of Student Rights & Responsibilities (the "Code"). All students share the responsibility of maintaining a positive environment for the academic and personal growth of all McMaster community members, whether in person or online.

It is essential that students be mindful of their interactions online, as the Code remains in effect in virtual learning environments. The Code applies to any interactions that adversely affect, disrupt, or interfere with reasonable participation in University activities. Student disruptions or behaviours that interfere with university functions on online platforms (e.g. use of Avenue 2 Learn, WebEx or Zoom for delivery), will be taken very seriously and will be investigated. Outcomes may include restriction or removal of the involved students' access to these platforms.

Academic Accommodation of Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities who require academic accommodation must contact Student Accessibility Services (SAS) at 905-525-9140 ext. 28652 or sas@mcmaster.ca to make arrangements with a Program Coordinator. For further information, consult McMaster University's Academic Accommodation of Students with Disabilities policy.

Academic Accommodation for Religious, Indigenous or Spiritual Observances (RISO)

Students requiring academic accommodation based on religious, indigenous or spiritual observances should follow the procedures set out in the RISO policy. Students should submit their request to their Faculty Office normally within 10 working days of the beginning of term in which they anticipate a need for accommodation or to the Registrar's Office prior to their examinations. Students should also contact their instructors as soon as possible to make alternative arrangements for classes, assignments, and tests.

Copyright and Recording

Students are advised that lectures, demonstrations, performances, and any other course material provided by an instructor include copyright protected works. The Copyright Act and copyright law protect every original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic work, including lectures by University instructors

The recording of lectures, tutorials, or other methods of instruction may occur during a course. Recording may be done by either the instructor for the purpose of authorized distribution, or by a student for the purpose of personal study. Students should be aware that their voice and/or image may be recorded by others during the class. Please speak with the instructor if this is a concern for you.

Extreme Circumstances

The University reserves the right to change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances (e.g., severe weather, labour disruptions, etc.). Changes will be communicated through regular McMaster communication channels, such as McMaster Daily News, A2L and/or McMaster email.

Course Modification

The instructor and university reserve the right to modify elements of the course during the term. The university may change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances. If either type of modification becomes necessary, reasonable notice and communication with the students will be given with explanation and the opportunity to comment on changes. It is the responsibility of the student to check his/her McMaster email and course websites weekly during the term and to note any changes.
